

- W-7 READINESS

Is your client's ITIN filing stuck in document limbo?

For CPAs and EAs: a few upstream steps can keep Form W-7 packages moving — and spare everyone avoidable delays and rejections.

- WHY IT MATTERS

W-7 readiness is non-negotiable.

A precisely prepared Form W-7 and complete supporting documents set the tone. Gaps here drive delays and rejections that cost clients and practitioners alike.

• THE CAA ADVANTAGE

CAAs verify documents in person.

IRS-authorized Certifying Acceptance Agents verify identity and foreign-status documents in person where the program applies, so clients avoid mailing original passports to the IRS.

• COMMON PITFALLS

Where W-7 packages go wrong.

A handful of document issues cause most ITIN delays. Screen for each of these carefully before anything reaches the IRS desk.

- ✦ Expired identification documents
- ✦ Insufficient proof of foreign status
- ✦ Incomplete or uncertified translations
- ✦ Missing tax return attachments

• EVIDENCE THAT COUNTS

Dependents often need extra evidence.

For dependents, the IRS may require more than an ID. Knowing what's accepted upfront prevents a second round of requests.

- ◆ Medical records for children under 6
- ◆ School records for children under 18
- ◆ Rental or utility bills for residency

● HOW WE HELP

ITIN.com works alongside your practice.

We partner with CPAs and EAs on expert W-7 preparation, CAA document verification where applicable, and thorough review — so every package lands complete and IRS-compliant.

● CLOSE THE GAPS

A quick pre-submission checklist.

Before anything is submitted, a short review catches the issues that most often trigger IRS delays and follow-up requests.

- ◆ Pre-screen documents against IRS guidelines
- ◆ Confirm certified translations for non-English materials
- ◆ Leverage CAA verification before submission

● PARTNER WITH CONFIDENCE

An extension of your practice.

ITIN.com handles the complex document verification and W-7 legwork, so you can stay focused on the core advisory work your clients rely on.
