

- U.S. MARKET ENTRY

Want to do business in the U.S. without an SSN?

An ITIN may be the U.S. tax identity number that lets you file, comply, and move your plans forward.

• WHAT IS AN ITIN

A U.S. tax number for people without an SSN.

An Individual Taxpayer Identification Number is a tax processing number issued by the IRS. It's for people who need a U.S. taxpayer ID but cannot get a Social Security Number.

• WHO NEEDS ONE

Who needs an ITIN?

Generally, people with a U.S. tax filing or reporting requirement who are not eligible for an SSN.

- ◆ Non-resident aliens with U.S. tax obligations
- ◆ Resident aliens for U.S. tax purposes
- ◆ Dependents and spouses of the above
- ◆ Foreign investors and business owners

• WHAT IT DOES DO

What an ITIN does do.

It lets you meet U.S. tax obligations and take part in certain financial activities.

- ◆ Comply with U.S. tax laws
- ◆ File federal tax returns
- ◆ Claim eligible tax treaty benefits

• WHAT IT DOES NOT DO

What an ITIN does not do.

An ITIN is purely for tax purposes. It changes nothing about your right to work or your immigration status.

- ✦ Grant work authorization
- ✦ Provide immigration status
- ✦ Make you eligible for Social Security benefits
- ✦ Change your residency status

• ITIN VS. SSN

ITIN vs. SSN: the key difference.

Both are taxpayer ID numbers, but they come from different agencies and serve different purposes.

- ◆ SSN: issued by the Social Security Administration for citizens and authorized workers
- ◆ SSN grants work eligibility and benefits
- ◆ ITIN: issued by the IRS for tax purposes only
- ◆ ITIN is for those not eligible for an SSN

• YOUR NEXT STEP

Think an ITIN is your next step?
